Get Ready For Going Back To School with Fairy Tales

Back to school season is upon us! Which means a lot of things from homework, school events, a rise of sickness, and lastly lice peak season! Head lice can cause a lot of stress and pain. I think when it comes to head lice prevention is the key. Use products that will help prevent head lice plus talk to your kids about not sharing hair care items. This post is a sponsored post, but all opinions, stories, and my experience are all personal and true (like always)!

With more than 12 million cases of head lice reported in the U.S. each year, these tiny critters provide tremendous problems. In support of September's National Lice Awareness Month, I wanted to share with you guys some all-natural products that are proven to help rid & prevent head lice and nits. I use them daily on my girls!

First is the Rosemary Repel® Shampoo it contains a blend of jojoba, sugar cane and chamomile to hydrate, moisturize and soothe the scalp. After using the shampoo you can use their Rosemary Repel® Conditioner. It is formulated with passion flower, cherry bark and jojoba to detangle, condition and nourish all hair types. After their shower we like to follow up with the Rosemary Repel® Conditioning Spray. It uses aloe, vitamin B and amaranth protein to soften, detangle, eliminate frizz and moisturize wet or dry hair.

If you happen to get lice Fairy Tales have a Lice Good-Bye® Survival Kit. The kit contains everything you need to eliminate lice and stubborn nits naturally and effectively. This pesticide-free, natural treatment is safe for repeated use even after you've used one of those chemical treatments.
